Bleach Blade Battlers 2nd is a fighting game developed by Treasure based on the Bleach anime and manga series produced by Studio Pierrot. It was released for arcades in Japan on July 3, 2010 and is available at D-Station and Game Room locations only. There are currently no plans for a home port or re-release of the game. The game features 19 playable characters (20 if you include one of two unlockable characters) taken from the entire Bleach anime series, spanning Bleach, Bleach: The DiamondDust Rebellion, and the three feature-length movies. There are 8 stages in total. Central to the gameplay is the "Substitute System," in which players can temporarily incapacitate their opponent by landing attacks. By landing enough attacks, an announcer shouts "Bankai" and your character can use their Bankai / Resurreccion / Fullbring for one attack that strikes multiple times. The game also features both offline and online multiplayer modes including ranked matches.
